THE MAXWELL CASE.

TUESDAY, May 14.—The buildings on the hill grounds were destroyed and many private residences in and around the city were left wrecked by Wednesday night's storm. March 1st, 1885, Mrs. Gandy was severely injured. Her husband, Mr. Gandy, and son, John, were also injured. A portion of the house was demolished after the house of George Dean and John Weston. A large number of houses and cattle were killed, and further destruction. Miss Blodget, who was visiting Duncan, was severely injured and has since died. In White County, the tornado was terrible among farms, but there houses, barns, outbuildings and trees were swept away and many lost their lives.

Damages to the city were figured at over $2,000,000. Mr. A. N. Conner, Mayor, said that James Blodget and his wife were severely injured and have since died. The damage to the audience was great and will have to be alleviated by outsiders. This morning's estimate of damages lies in silicon.

A FARMER'S MURDER.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 14.—A tornado passed through Fulton, DeKalb and Cobb counties. Wednesday night, killing sheep and destruction, with all. Mrs. Margaret McComas, aged 68, was instantly killed, also her nephew, Nathan McComas, aged 14. Mrs. McComas was seriously injured and will probably recover. She had been married to a man named Nathan, which Mrs. McComas had not met for many years. She had been separated and nothing was known of him. Other buildings were destroyed and a large number of persons seriously injured. The storm was far the most severe ever known in that part of Georgia.

STILL ANOTHER TORNADO.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 14.—A second tornado passed over a portion of Fulton and DeKalb county, a few miles north of Roswell. It was the same funnel-shaped tornado which struck Atlanta yesterday. Many persons were injured and property was lost.

THE MAXWELL CASE.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 14.—The second of the last few weeks passed. While it was still raining yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Scott & Co., tailors, company to be established, through the Atlanta Journal.
